PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—

University of

Washington and Jefferson football game, but so far no one, to the writer's knowledge, has ever touched on the points to be brought out in this yarn.

The information comes from a man close to the California

coaching staff and whose name for obvious reasons cannot be disclosed. He was never a California-athlete, nor is he a Caliifornia alumnus, but a man well known in the football world—

a former All-American player.

In substance his story follows:

By an elaborate system of signals Greasy Neale, coach of the

W. and J. eleven, directed the entire attack of the easterners from

the bench. Like a Connie Mack he flashed the high sign for a buck, a pass, an end run, or a boot. On the field of play Capt. Stein, calling signals from the line, simply carried out the instructions he received from Neale by their special wireless code.

IN LINE OF VISION.

It will be recalled that Stein

played what might be termed a coving end. One time he was on the left side of the line and again

on the right side. This depended on the location of the W. and J.

bench. Preparatory to calling signals Stein invariably would turn

his back to the line of scrimmage

and walk off at a tangent. Then

he would turn and face the line

and walk slowly in the direction

to the tackle. This brought him in Neale's line of vision and it was no trick to get the dope on the next

play.

On the day of the game Neale

wore a dark blue coat and a light

cap. He sat at the extreme end of the W. and J. bench and alone.

The signals Neale used were as follows: For a buck over the right side of the line Neale placed a doubled right fist on the lapel.

For a pass around the right end

he doubled fist with the index finger

extended on the left lapel brought

the desired result. Bucks and runs

on the left side of the line were

wigwagged in just the opposite motion.

"Neale had two forward passes

a screen and the common or garden variety. One was executed by arms folded over his chest; the other by face buried in hands.

Crossed feet indicated a kick."

NEALE GUIDES ENGINE.

It is related that not a formation pulled off on the line of play

resulted from the supposedly simple brain of Capt. Stein.

Neale guided the engine of attack during

the entire sixty minutes of play.

The signal system also was employed by W. and J. on the defense, but not so closely as on the offense, and this was too complicated to catch.

It is revealed that the assistant

coaches at W. and J. attempted to persuade Neale to give up coaching for the business during the season, but were unsuccessful. My informant says that he worried the influence of Neale's tactics out

Wildcats Dish Out a Licking to U.S.C. Five.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 9.—The University of Arizona basketball team defeated the University of Southern California five in an exciting game here tonight. The score was 36 to 28. A second game will be played tomorrow night.

JIM THORP IS TO PLAY WITH DUCKS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 9.—Jim Thorpe, former Carlisle Indian School star, was purchased today from the Toledo American Association club by William Klepper, owner of the Portland Pacific Coast League baseball team. The purchase price was not announced by Mr. Klepper. Thorpe, who plays at field, batted .359 for Toledo last season.

MERMAIDS MAKE NEW SWIM RECORDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WELLINGTON (N. Z.) Feb. 8.—In the national swimming championships held here Monday, Miss Hoeft swam fifty yards in 28 2-5s. Today Miss Shand swam 440 yards in 5m. 28-2s. In both instances world records were created.

Both the above records were set by Ethel Birkhead, who swam 55 yards in 28 2-5s and 440 yards in 6m. 30s.

CHECKER CRACKS DRAW FOUR MORE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

GLASGOW, Feb. 9.—Four more draws resulted in the play today in the international checkers championship match between Newell W. Banks of Detroit, and Robert Stewart of Glasgow. Thus far in the series Stewart has won two games, Banks one game and thirty-one games have been drawn Introducing Benny Leonard—and His Famous Dukes.

Rocky Kansas felt the power of the Leonard mits in their brawls at New York tonight. They don't look like hams, but they do the bidding of a man schooled in the cunning and skill of the ring.

GARDNER FINALLY WINS FIRST GAME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Feb. 9.—Gus Gardner of New York, today won his first game of the National Amateur Pocket Billiard Tournament, defeating William J. Haworth of Cleveland, 125 to 105 in thirty-six innings. Haworth also lost to Capt. A. Vaughn of Chicago in an earlier afternoon game, 125 to 114 in sixty-eight innings.

FANS STRONG ON LEONARD.

Boxing Followers Believe His Crown Is Not in Danger in Taking on Rocky Kansas Tonight.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—New York is experiencing a rather unique situation so far as betting is concerned in connection with the Benny Leonard-Rocky Kansas lightweight championship bout which takes place tomorrow evening in Madison Square Garden. "It is not so much the amount of money that will change hands as it is the number of bets laid. It seems that those who like to let a little something ride on the event are evenly divided as to the manner in which Leonard will win."

That Benny will step from the bout will go the limit or terminate in a knockout is the question that is furnishing the gambling medium.

RABID FANS.

Some of the most rabid Kansas fans laid a few bets that Rocky would win or get a draw, but were snapped up so quickly and at such juicy odds that now they are satisfied to let him stay the limit.

Leonard's fans are convinced Benny will topple over the tough Kansas boy and have settled on the fifth or seventh round as the limit.

There are plenty of reasons why opinion is split. In the first place Leonard failed to knock him out some time ago in Jersey. Then Sailor Freedman came along and not only stayed eight rounds with the champion but mussed him up a bit. Then Tim Dorney, unknown except in Philadelphia, went eight rounds with Leonard.

INJURES THUMB.

On top of it all is the injury Leonard suffered to his thumb while getting ready for Toledo. The fact that Freedman and Dorney went the distance with him was attributed to this hurt.

"They're meaning the wise ones, say the bookmakers, like to chance on suffering another injury, and they add that if Leonard lets Rocky stick matches with other near contenders will take on a more golden tint. They also assume that Benny did a bit of carrying in their former engagements.

The fact that this is Leonard's

PULL OFF NAVY BOUTS TONIGHT.

Championship boxing and wrestling finals of the Pacific Fleet, twice postponed on account of the rain, will positively be pulled off tonight on the U.S.S. California, it was announced at the harbor yesterday. Originally the struggles were to have been held on Tuesday night, and bleachers to seat 3000 sailors were erected on the after deck. Such notables as Jack Dempsey, Jim Jeffries, Sid Grauman and others will be aboard. Admiral Eberle and his staff also will view the brawls.

HORNSBY ASKS FOR RAISE.

MOSER WINS FEATURE BOUT.

Awarded Technical Knockout Over Ed Redden in a Peculiar Scrap at L. A. A. C.

One of the most peculiar bouts ever seen in the L.A.A.C. semi-annuals last night as part of the club's monthly slate program. Sailor Moser, on the verge of a knockout after hitting the canvas three times for a count of nine, put his last ounce of pep into a one-two that landed solidly on Ed Redden's jaw, and it was Ed's turn to get a cleanup of the floor. He staggered to his feet, but was so groggy that Sailor Hornsby stopped enough wallop.

All this happened in the second round of the semi-wind-up, after Moser and Redden had been slugging each other enthusiastically, with Moser stopping enough wallop.

The rest of the card was generously sprinkled with technical knockouts, Referee Clark being too soft-hearted to let things go the limit. Manual Martineau sent Anibal Gartner down in an instant with a hard right to the chin, in the second frame, and although the bout had been about fifty-fifty up to that time, Clark held on. Martineau's mitts were fast and his punches were solid, and he was a mite faster than his opponent.

Annual Inter-Class Meet Will be Staged Tomorrow.

KEEN COMPETITION IN POMONA MEET EXPECTED.

Sagehen Peagreens Will Offer Upper Classmen Tough Fight for Laurels in All Events.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CLAREMONT, Feb. 9.—Interest of local sport followers is now centered about the annual home field meet which is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on Alumni Field. This affair, which is in reality an interclass meet, always attracts a great deal of attention because it gives the Sagehen supporters their first definite glimpse of the Blue and White track team for the current season. It also is a great help to the coaches in determining just how things stand in regard to material.

From all indications the meet this season should be a mighty interesting one, the competition promising to be more lively than last year. A few weeks ago it looked as if the junior class would have things all their own way, but since then the freshies have come forth with some real stunts. The year in which the membership of '28 will count themselves lucky to win the meet. There are many who believe that the freshies will trim the upper classmen.

Charles Danner, Olympic hurdler, is in town and has been here and will be unable to compete in the meet. As he is a junior this further lessens the juniors' chances of victory.

With one exception, the rest of last year's veterans are here. Max Cobb, long-distance runner, is expected to win the two-mile event in handy fashion for the Juniors, while Kenny Winslow, miler, should cap the four-mile jump for them. Stanley Morgan and George Douglas are without formidable rivals in the pole vault, which means another eight points for the Juniors. Here Morgan, giant weight thrower, is practically the only man in school who can get the job done, and that is 115 feet. With Bill Billigdale, also a junior, Morgan should bring in at least two firsts.

COMPETITION KEEN.

Competition in the short dashes gives promise of being the keenest of any of the afternoon's events. Harold Harver, a sophomore, has been showing his heels to the majority of runners of late. Ron Walker runs close to the top, and his pace is to water, and may trim his classmate. Truman Douglass is the hope of the Juniors in this event. He showed especially well last night and his supporters believe he will be the top of the team in the other three. Fay and Caldwell are two mighty promising freshmen and it is possible that these gents will upset the dope and finish in one, two order in both the 100 and 220. Smith, a freshie, and senior, Sam Farnum, is also very fast and may spring a surprise.

With Danner out of the hurdle events it looks like it would be a free-for-all for first honors. The seniors and Juniors have these points. Max and Walker doing the best jumping. Eugene Kennedy and Jack Rounds are counted on by the Juniors, and will be able to support by Howard Lorber.

SOPHS HAVE EDGE.

The half mile will undoubtedly go to the sophomores, as Paul Stroud has been running away from the other men in this event. He bids fair to fill the shoes of Ray Moremen, star distance runner who graduated in June.

Coach Eugene Nixon has been casting about in vain for a javelin

By W. E. PHILION.

Let's have some more columns in the baseball averages. There are only six times as many columns now as there was ten years ago, but we need some more. Why not have some headings like these: "E. F. G." meaning ejected from game; "B. P." meaning bone plays; "G. S. S." meaning gummied the signal, and "R. B. P." meaning names by public.

Said the magnate: "I note the receipt of a player whose record looks smashy. But tell me the truth—Has this elegant youth a quick thinkank as well as quick fidget?"

Famous Announcement. "Batter-r-rup!" "Tax bills are now ready." "Come you 912 a quart." "The ball's in play!" "The house is pinched!"

Once Witt, after long service in the big leagues, has come down to Salt Lake. Oh, well—he'll get his luster regularly, anyhow!

Many people still have the strange idea that all ball-players are reckless spendthrifts. These birds, if a Hebrew, a Scotchman, and a Cape Cod Yonkers were to combine, they'd spend up as free from money as a turtle is from feathers, while the ball-player would have their clothes and a mortgage on their insurance policies!

ONCE OVER.

Hope that Mr. Wrigley will have his big league ball-players Field plant the once over for ornate features, although it is unnecessary for one living in comparative penury to offer suggestions to one who is able to speak in nine figures. Where I spend a nickel for chewing gum and the same sum for a meal, the same week Mr. Wrigley takes a million out of the same article, and never misses it.

According to Nap O'Connor, "Pinkey" Grindle is back in Los Angeles. All except the chronic fame of ten or twelve years ago, but the after-years, when you are, are not. Battered and dippy, just from getting hit. You realize that much the wiser when he who knew the proper time to quit!

An agile young player named Flood tried to steal second base in the first, but he slipped and he slipped. But he stumbled and tripped, and come down on his neck with a thud!

A star in the gay game of soccer had a choice lot of Scotch in his bones!

He got up one day, cracked a big game away, and then voted that boose was a noose!

Are you really happy, or is the handbook man still running with the coin you bet on the winner? (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

the other day, "the boys are all with you to a man. When your team loses—and you can't win all the time—then it's a different story. I ought to know, because I've been through it all many a time."

SMITH TO GO EAST.

Smith, by the way, will likely spend a few weeks this spring with his mother in Pennsylvania. He plans to attend the football coaching classes conducted in New York, to which he is a delegate, and then will remain in the East; that is, Andy will carry out this program if he can arrange for his spring football practice in advance of the New York meeting.

FLASHES.

CHAPLIN'S PLANS.

WILL MAKE GREAT COMEDY DRAMA SOON.

By Grace Kingsley.

Which shall it be? Which shall it be? That's the important inquiry which the world's most famous film comedian, Charlie Chaplin, is pondering to himself these days.

No, the inquiry doesn't concern any affair of the heart, but has to do with his future professional plans, especially in regard to his pictures to be made under his contract with United Artists, which is to go into effect as soon as he has completed another picture under his present contract.

Whether it is wiser to endure the stings and arrows exigent on slap-stick comedy, or fly to comedy drama the troubles of which he has not yet tasted. That is the question.

Up to a few days ago, Chaplin

had about decided to make as his first United Artists effort a great drama.

His friends told him that he did not care how much the picture cost,

so that he made a fine photo-

play.

"I mean to make this picture

the greatest of my career."

When he makes it, he wants

just once to put that on the screen

which I feel to be my best work."

That Chaplin will do this soon

is a fact.

He has been listening to this advice of his friends, and

he has decided to do this soon

as soon as his friends have

persuaded him to make as his first five or six-reeler for United,

a smashing comedy; and it is said

INCOME TAX FACTS.

Deductions for depreciation form an important item in the return of many taxpayers, and are the subject of frequent inquiry. The word "depreciation" is not used in the Revenue Act of 1921, which provides "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in trade or business, or for vocational purposes." Depreciation in the value of an automobile used for pleasure or convenience cannot be claimed.

Depreciation due to changes in the social or business condition of one's household, or changes of street grade, or fluctuations of market values cannot be claimed. Depreciation in the value of land, whether improved or unimproved, due to erosion, exhaustion, or any other cause, cannot be claimed. Depreciation in the value of the owner of property has claimed its full cost of depreciation, no further claim will be allowed.

The value to be cared for by depreciation is the cost of the property. However, in the case of property held for investment, as of March 1, 1915, the deduction shall be computed upon the basis of its fair market price or value as of March 1, 1915.

Depreciation may be claimed on business property which includes not only buildings, but machinery of a permanent character, automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture and books.

HOW COMPUTED.

To compute the amount of depreciation which may be claimed, a taxpayer should determine the probable life of the property, then divide by the number of years it will be used in the business in which employed. The result thus obtained will represent the amount which may be claimed as a deduction. For example, a frame building, the probable lifetime of which is twenty-five years, cost $5000. Is depreciated by twenty-five and claim $200 each year as a deduction.

While each taxpayer may determine the probable lifetime of his property without regard to the following figures, it has been estimated that the useful lifetime of a frame of a brick building is thirty-five years; a stone or concrete building fifty to 100 years. The estimated life of ordinary machinery, or of automobiles used for business or farm purposes and for travel, is four to five years. If a taxpayer claims the full amount of depreciation, he cannot claim as a deduction the cost of repairs to the property during the same year. "Repairs" in this connection means repairs and replacements of a kind tending to restore the property to its original condition, or to add to its value, as a new flooring or a new roof. If the taxpayer wishes to claim a deduction on account of repairs, their cost must be deducted from the full amount of depreciation, and the balance may be claimed as depreciation.

Allowances for depreciation must be made as a separate item of the return, and must be explained by showing separately each class of property, its cost or value at the date of purchase or fair market price or value as of March 1, 1915, its estimated price as of that date, estimated life, depreciation charged off for the taxable year, and total depreciation charged off for all taxable years.

INCREASED ACTIVITY IN MINING STOCKS.

PRICES GENERALLY FIRM; RECOVERY OF 10 1/2 CENTS IN OATMAN UNITED.

Trading in the mining shares was much more active on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday and many of the issues recovered a large portion of their recent losses. Oatman United was particularly strong and advanced without resistance from an opening price of 75 to a high of 90 cents. There was some selling pressure exerted at this level and the close was weak at 85 a net gain for the day of 10 1/2 cents. Tom Reed jumped 6 cents just before the close to 78 cents. The other issues were irregular. Gold Dust advanced 14 to 54 1/2. Telluride fell off 2 to 25 after a particularly active morning session at lower figures. United Eastern advanced 2 cents to 12 1/2 and United American closed at 25 cents.

In claiming depreciation the following fundamental principles must be observed: Only such depreciation as results from exhaustion, wear and tear of property resulting from its use in trade, business, or profession or vocation is allowed. Depreciation in the value of an automobile used for pleasure or convenience cannot be claimed.

Depreciation due to changes in the social or business condition of one's household, or changes of street grade, or fluctuations of market values cannot be claimed.

Depreciation in the value of land, whether improved or unimproved, due to erosion, exhaustion, or any other cause, cannot be claimed.

Depreciation in the value of the owner of property has claimed its full cost of depreciation, no further claim will be allowed.

The value to be cared for by depreciation is the cost of the property.

However, in the case of property held for investment, as of March 1, 1915, the deduction shall be computed upon the basis of its fair market price or value as of March 1, 1915.

Depreciation may be claimed on business property which includes not only buildings, but machinery of a permanent character, automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture and books.

Allowances for depreciation must be made as a separate item of the return, and must be explained by showing separately each class of property, its cost or value at the date of purchase or fair market price or value as of March 1, 1915, its estimated price as of that date, estimated life, depreciation charged off for the taxable year, and total depreciation charged off for all taxable years.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Apprehension stirred by soldier bonus
legislation developments exercised
a depressing effect on stock market operators early in today's exchange session, but apparently was allayed, the market emerging in a bullish demonstration in the final hour.

United States Steel closed at a gain of almost three points, affiliated issues also rising one to three points.

Buying of low-priced rails was another feature, the demand for Seaboard Air Line common and preferred, St. Louis Southwestern and Kansas City Southern,
Colorado, Southern, Rock Island
Pere Marquette common and preferred resulting in gross gains of one to four points.

People's Gas, food specialties,
shipments and the oils and motor shorts. The few backward fortunes included tobaccos and Columbia Graphophone common and preferred, the latter breaking sharply
on announcement of receiver

ship proceedings. Sales, 735,000 shares. The open rate for call money held at 5 per cent, with the usual
shading to 4-3-4 per cent in private loans on high-grade collateral. Time funds were quoted at 3-1/2 to 5 per cent, the low rate prevalent for the early in-day accommodations.

After a further sharp rise in which demand sterling was carried to the new high of $4.38 1-4,
foreign exchange reacted abruptly
by the British rate falling to $4.35 3-4. Continental rates affected these sudden changes, aside
from Danish, Norwegian, Swedish and Swiss instances, which held at or above highest quotations of the previous day.

Foreign issues continued to lead
the bond market to higher ground.

United Kingdom and French Bonds and Consols offerings were especially strong. Consols totals featured the domestic list, notably Seaboard Air Line fives and sixes

factory 3-3-4's were the only noteworthy exceptions to the better
tones of United States war fota-tions, easing to below par. Total sales, (par value) aggregated

$15,875,000.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

Elizabeth Jordan's Column. AT THE CROSSING.

Mrs. X. entered her friend's living-room with a brisk step, greeted the little group around the tea table with a beaming smile and accepted a cup of tea from her hostess with a sigh of almost blissful content. She was, indeed, so at peace with herself and the world that the other members of the group looked at her almost resentfully. It was raining hard, the sun had not shone for days and nobody else felt especially cheerful.

"You seem quite gay," Mrs. A. remarked, rather grumpily.

THAT LITTLE UPLIFT.

Mrs. X. drank her tea with relish and smiled at her gloomily-eyed friend. "I have just been having my faith restored in human nature," she said, buoyantly. "I've been watching a human being doing a very kind thing."

"What was it?" asked Mrs. A., rather languidly.

"The bus I was in stopped at a corner where the traffic was at its worst and most congested. Other vehicles were whirling past us in both directions, and standing helplessly quite still in the midst of it all was a very young man who was blind. I should not have known that he was blind except that he was so near the bus and his face was turned toward me."

"It was clear to me that he had lost his sense of direction, and was afraid to move. It was also clear that the passing chauffeurs and truck drivers did not know he was blind. To them, he was merely a pedestrian in the way. They barely swerved enough to escape him, and several of them swore at him as they passed."

THAT KINDLY CONDUCTOR.

The conductor of the bus saw him at the same moment I did and grasped the blind man's arm. In an instant the bus was on the move and had taken the blind man's arm. Then he held up an imperious hand and stopped the vehicles that were bearing down upon the blind man. The bus stopped, the blind man to the side walked out where he wanted to go, headed him in the right direction, and with a friendly clap on the back, left him and hurried back into the bus. The bus stopped but hardly more than a moment, but it was the sort of thing that gave me a sense of uplift."

"Yes," said Mrs. B. Bitterly. "It helps to make one forget the course of human affairs. I saw over a woman last week and dragged her body two miles before he stopped."

THIS FATHERLY POLICEMAN.

"I saw a pretty little scene this morning," said the hostess hurriedly. "I was at one of our worst corners, waiting to get across the street when suddenly an infant of a came along on a little kick. His companion appeared to be a maiden aunt. Certainly, she had no authority over the child. When I saw it, I actually refused to get off the sidewalk to let the child pass, simply looking helpless. A big policeman standing near us looked down at the child, grinned, and suddenly raised a mighty paw."

"On the way home, he said, he said. All the traffic stopped. An absolutely clear path stretched before the infant and his kiddie kick. The small boy took the episode calmly. It was no more than he largely the result of a lack of a constructive immigration policy in the past. In too many instances the foreigner has shown himself opposed to good government, without loyalty to America, and without desire to exploit our country for his own selfish ends in defiance of our laws. The experience of the war proves that it is not the foreigner who causes most of our labor trouble. It is only necessary to recall the steel strike, the coal strikes and our recent packing-house troubles. The foreign groups, the mushy sentimentalists and the small-bore politicians are the ones responsible for the prohibition of immigration. Congress will do nothing but put over some miserable makeshift unless the real English-speaking Americans make them pass a law that effectively stops it, or we fast becoming a lawless land dominated by the scum of Europe."

H. D. WILSON.

Practical Courtesy.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the Times of yesterday (Wednesday) a letter was written by the author of that some one would acknowledge a favor extended by a library attendant. I was surprised because I have had so many courtesies in the Public Library. I have in a case of straightforwardness week after week reading the hours in the magazine department I discovered that I had lost a small purse containing three keys. I inquired at the desk as the loss and found department was closed. The attendant made a careful search for the keys and then I was directed to the desk. The attendant followed me to the hallway and inquired about money in the purse as I had mentioned three keys. She insisted upon loaning me 5 cents' car fare when I actually knew that all my change was in the purse.

This courtesy was voluntary on her part. I am pleased to thank her again and all attendants for their unselfish kindness.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Letters to the Immigration.

DEMING (N. M.) Feb. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The other day I sent you a little screed on "Our Immigration Problem." It is time the people of America took an interest in seeing that our immigration laws are being carried out.

Deming, N. M.—"Our immigration law this year. The present 2 per cent law has a joker in it that any alien who resides one year in Canada is allowed to enter the United States without regard to percentage restriction."

All this talk of selective immigration and percentage stuff is helpful, but why stop at halfway measures? Why not change the law to give you quite a list of required high-grade books to be read and in your copy room couches it in language becoming a washer-woman. What was the use of airing all that superior mentality and then making it read as though I were a jamaica ginger habbit? The Deverell will be a laurel wreath, a perfectly atrocious kick-back—such a Saxon himself would not be read, but my golly, man. I thought a copy reader was supposed to use his imagination—but he even spelled my name wrong side to. My friend, I have been surprised to see how many books have been submitted to me for review. There is not a country for years over and in increasing volume by the most undesirable volume of European immigration. What good reason is there for outing the foreigner to fetch over his relatives to our country already cursed enough by his presence? There is not enough work for our own people. Our ex-service men are clamoring for a bonus because already there are more men than jobs. I believe you will agree that the lack of respect for law and religion is in

ALTHEA RAYMOND.

A Real Compliment.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The other day I sent you a little screed on "Our Immigration Problem." It is time the people of America took an interest in seeing that our immigration laws are being carried out.

Deming, N. M.—"Our immigration law this year. The present 2 per cent law has a joker in it that any alien who resides one year in Canada is allowed to enter the United States without regard to percentage restriction."

All this talk of selective immigration and percentage stuff is helpful, but why stop at halfway measures? Why not change the law to give you quite a list of required high-grade books to be read and in your copy room couches it in language becoming a washer-woman. What was the use of airing all that superior mentality and then making it read as though I were a jamaica ginger habbit? The Deverell will be a laurel wreath, a perfectly atrocious kick-back—such a Saxon himself would not be read, but my golly, man. I thought a copy reader was supposed to use his imagination—but he even spelled my name wrong side to. My friend, I have been surprised to see how many books have been submitted to me for review. There is not a country for years over and in increasing volume by the most undesirable volume of European immigration. What good reason is there for outing the foreigner to fetch over his relatives to our country already cursed enough by his presence? There is not enough work for our own people. Our ex-service men are clamoring for a bonus because already there are more men than jobs. I believe you will agree that the lack of respect for law and religion is in

SOURCE OF SUPPLY.
The President is right if he insists that any measure carrying a soldier bonus shall definitely carry also the plan for financing the same. It is one thing to appropriate money. It is more important to specify the source of the supply. On the face of it the people must pay heavy additional taxes to provide a soldier bonus. They must be shown exactly where and how this is to be obtained.

BURNING QUESTIONS.
Jane Addams says that if the United States does not take part in the Genoa conference Uncle Sam should venture into some international gathering long enough to explain to the peoples of Central Europe why it is that American farmers are burning the corn while they are starving to death over there. That is something it might be hard and embarrassing for Uncle Sam to explain and the interpretation would not help Europe very much, at that. We have some troubles we wish to keep to ourselves.

BACK TO DUST.

Science has finally answered the conundrum of what becomes of all the pins. It seems that they disintegrate and return to dust again. Stick a pin in your onion patch and in 247 days it will have disappeared entirely. Hairpins are even short-lived. A hairpin lying in the open and exposed to the elements will become negligible in 154 days. If the wife finds a strange hairpin in the garage she should begin her detective work at once. It is probably a fresh lead. In six months the evidence may disappear. It does seem that everything made by man returns in time to the dust of which he himself is composed.

PEGGY AND HER PEN.

Peggy Joyce is writing a book on her life with three millionaires, and says she is going to show ambitious young girls how to snag the luxurious male. If Peggy were going to do this in the films there would be a roar that could be heard clear to Hollywood, but as it is a bookish affair, nothing will come of it. After Peggy has written her book there is no assurance that she can persuade the flappers to read it. After the press agent has done his work and the paragrapher has had his say, the book will be left to its merits. As it probably will not have any, its merits will be short-lived. The fact that a red-headed show girl has been the plaything of three or four millionaires does not guarantee a niche in the literary hall of fame. Peggy is not only repellent to the respectable female, but the susceptible male is afraid of her.

LIKES' AMERICANS.

Pope Pius XI has expressed his admiration for the energy and efficiency of the American people as well as for their progressive Catholicism. The new force at the Vatican seems to have a practical conception of the world. He is the 260th successor of St. Peter on the papal throne. Of the total number of Popes 210 were born in Italy and 104 of them were natives of the city of Rome. The Latins have almost always commanded the Vatican. There have been fifteen French Popes, nine Greeks, seven Germans, three Spaniards and but one Englishman. That was Adrian IV, who was elevated to the papacy in 1154. Three Popes were born in Africa and one was a Hebrew. The name of the late Pope, Benedict, is commonly associated with domestic life. In literature and the drama Benedict is the typical married man. But, of course, in the papacy this was different. Yet a church writer of authority assures us that there is nothing in the fundamental law to forbid a layman of the church from becoming its Pope. In practice, however, the cardinals charged with the selection almost invariably choose from their own ranks. As the spiritual ruler of 275,000,000 souls the Pope is mightier than most of the kings of earth.

CHANGING THE CALENDAR.

There are those who would reform the year. An organization has been created which has for its purpose the remodeling of the calendar. They would have thirteen months where twelve grew before. This is a good deal like taking a 10 per cent profit out of nothing. The Liberty Calendar Association has prepared a measure for the action of Congress which would establish the new idea. The plan is to have the months all alike. There would be a new one every four weeks and notable days would always occur on the same anniversary. Of course, the Fourth of July would always be on the same day of the week. Easter Sunday would always be on the ninety-ninth day of the year. Of course, there would be an extra day every four years, but this would be called Leap Year Day and would come after June 28. The extra month would be credited to spring and it is proposed to call it Vernal—meaning vernal, or springlike and green.

It would be a fine thing to have another month of spring every year. Likewise a man who is getting $300 a month would be glad to have one more month for his rake-off, but unfortunately the plan works both ways. The man who is paying $100 a month for the rent of a $400 house will hardly give three cheers at the approach of another rent day.

The sponsors of the new calendar have considerable work before them if they expect the world to accept their program in its entirety. The temptation of another month of spring is not sufficient.

CHUMBS FOR SCANDAL EATERS.
During the recent target practice of the fleet a new reporter for the Associated Press felt the dished shiver on the table from the concussion of the guns; and forthwith rushed out telegraphic messages to the end of the world, telling the startled billions that an earthquake was after him.

In due time the young man recovered from the panic that had been beating in frenzy upon the anguished portals of his soul; but, in the meantime, various jealous cities had been supplied with a few crumbs to feed their bile. They snatched up the Associated Press dispatch and closed their ears to the real facts later. They took to their hearts the dubious comfort of the tipsy tramp who woke up in a brewery, saying, "This may be a dream, so don't wake me up."

A final correction and explanation sent out by the Associated Press only had the effect of snatching away the fresh-killed lamb from the ravenous tiger.

Detroit, whose war-tattered population is fading away like the "sow bugs" when an old board is raised to let in the sunlight, is especially grieved. With agonies and tortures of soul does one Detroit paper thus repulse those who would wrench the "Los Angeles earthquake" away from her: "A mistaken correspondent, not yet imbued with the Los Angeles idea, vouches for nine tremors that shattered window glass and drove residents into the street." And the editorial goes on to say that every time a furious earthquake happens in Los Angeles we ascribe it to the firing of the guns of the fleet, the passing of auto trucks and a bar-room fight in the Hollywood studios.

If we might go so far as to make a timid and hesitant observation it would seem that the shot is on the other foot. Every time an auto truck passes, a fleet fires its guns, the papers in Sacramento, Detroit and way stations promptly scream "Earthquake! earthquake!"

We did not know of the Hollywood bar-room fights alluded to by the Detroit papers; but if there are any the Detroit papers probably start yelling earthquake at the first blow.

All of which is of no particular importance except as it shows a pitiful phase of human character. There is no one so bitter as the faded belle who sits sourly and malignantly along the wall, passing along envenomed scandal about the clean-minded, wholesome young folks who come dancing along.

If they want to shut their ears to what they know to be the real truth and feed their gorged souls upon this wretched crumb—the rare mistake of a great news association—there seems nothing to be done for them. We can't very well get up earthquakes to please them, nor send them contingents of population and prosperity to restore their failing pulse.

There are none so deaf as those who will not hear.

THE GENOA CONFERENCE.

Judging from the comments appearing in the foreign press, the object of the Genoa Conference is to effect some arrangement by which European governments can secure additional loans and extensions of credit from the government of the United States.

Even the newspapers on the other side of the Atlantic that are credited with being reliably informed concerning conditions in this country persist in disseminating the erroneous impression that our government has billions of money to loan that it enjoys a position of affluence.

But we of this country are reminded by the arrival of income-tax blanks every January that our government is deeply in debt and that we must give up a part of our earnings to help it pull through. Any private business owing so much and having on its books so much uncollected paper would pass quickly into the hands of a receiver and probably through the bankruptcy courts.

The United States government is able to function by reason of the annual assessments levied against its stockholders, the people of the United States.

No government creates wealth. It can act only as a distributor of wealth; and governments are generally wasteful. Since the World War some of the European governments have attempted to create wealth by issuing a few billion treasury notes. But the people soon found that notes signed by a government without funds were worthless. The status of fiat money was definitely settled.

This country has already advanced about $17,000,000,000 in public and private loans, including extensions of credit, to the different countries of Europe. But it has all been swallowed up and the same peoples are crying for more. Since the armistice the peoples of Europe have borrowed about $12,000,000,000 from other peoples. They have spent that much more than they have earned. During the same period the loss in Western Europe due to industrial disturbances has been about $10,000,000,000. Men who might have been working if they had not gone on voluntary strikes lost that amount in wages. These figures do not include the whole of Europe. They apply only to Great Britain, France and Italy.

As free citizens of a free republic we perhaps approach closest to the ideal as applied to government. Yet, even here, upon every hand in our daily contracts, we are reminded that there are restrictions and curtailments upon our liberties. No one is able to do exactly as he pleases—when and where he pleases. All of which proves that the ideal of freedom in our commonwealth is quite as elastic and indeterminate as any other ideal of human conception. It is merely relative.

Our ideas of freedom differ materially. To the average intelligence the ideal of liberty is as incomprehensible and undesirable as Einstein's law of relativity. The normal human being resents interference with his rights and privileges. The abnormal claims rights and privileges to which he is not entitled. He claims for himself a liberty which interferes with another's freedom. We are all linked so interchangeably in a common destiny that it is quite easy to infringe upon the rights of others while pursuing freedom for ourselves.

Through the expansions of an elastic consciousness the ideal could be reached so easily—if the other humanity would not persist in getting in the way. The race of man being what it is, naturally there must be a restraining law to prevent a species of vandalism or an iconoclasm of sacred sights. When one regards this law as a useless fetter upon his liberties he is verging upon a dangerous position.

The universe is founded upon law—and governed by it. Each atom and molecule obeys that law and within it is at liberty to work out its destiny to the fullest extent compatible with those cosmic bounds. In carrying out there is no interference with the evolution and organism of the other atoms and molecules. Harmony results. It is when an atom or a comet strays beyond its proper sphere and interferes with the cosmic arrangement that disaster results.

We are all held in bondage to something, however we may boast of our freedom. If everything in this world is relative, it is apparent that freedom cannot be an absolute condition. It must stand in relation to something else which either encourages or restrains. As we naturally resent shackles arbitrarily imposed it is quite evident that our inherent instinct for freedom is a normal one. Up to a certain point it should be encouraged. Humanity is quite within its rights when it refuses to bow to any dictum or fiat which enslaves the mind or conscience. Many bright intelligences refuse affiliation with societies which impose rules of action more or less unreasonable upon their members. It may be merely dogmas of belief or opinion, certain formulas and tenets to which they are bound to adhere and which limit individual growth and development. To be a free spirit or, in terms of heraldic nomenclature, a "free lance," seems to be a necessity for some in their journey through life. Their restrictions must be self-imposed—not arbitrarily assigned to them by a would-be leader or set of leaders.

French publications have been asserting, as a challenge, that France will not take part in the Genoa Conference if the United States government will not agree to underwrite the German reparation indebtedness. They assume that it is our duty to endorse the German paper. Why? Never before in history has the winner been asked to pay the bad debts of the loser.

We speak of these matters frankly because there is a genuine desire in this country to aid in the rehabilitation of Europe. But it is well for the European countries to understand that we cannot adopt them as dependents. Viewing the record of the last three years, it would seem that the more we do for them the less they do for themselves. Unless they can begin to earn more than they spend all the wealth in the United States cannot save them.

As a result of their asking too much of our government, President Harding probably will not consent to send an American delegation to the Genoa Conference. It is better to be brutally frank than to permit the peoples of Europe to build on a foundation of false hopes.

DEALS OF FREEDOM.

which is that ideal of freedom toward which the inner impulsions of our being go in a ceaseless quest? We all long for it, work and strive for it, yet few among us appear to realize the working out of the ideal in our lives. From the cradle to the grave we find trammels of various kind and degree, in spite of our incessant longing to be free.

As free citizens of a free republic we perhaps approach closest to the ideal as applied to government. Yet, even here, upon every hand in our daily contracts, we are reminded that there are restrictions and curtailments upon our liberties. THE BEARDED LADY.

A lady is making the rounds with a lecture on why women do not raise beards. It was because they were afraid to, they may now go ahead and do their work. When man gave the women what they called their rights he wasn't stony about it. He gave them his vote and the privilege of raising whiskers. If our society dares wish to wear full beards let them go to it. Some of our matrons would look rather fierce with fringes on their maps, but if it be their whim let them have it. No true gentleman would curtail a lady of the solace of wearing a Van Dyke beard if it be her pleasure. Possibly the flappers will begin practice by cultivating Charlie Chaplin mustaches. Shaving every day helps a lot. The day may come when a lady will be known by the razor she carries.

KEEPING THEM PUT.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

One of the most harassing problems of today is how to hold them when we have them. This applies to political adherents, customers, professional admirers, church congregations, readers, cooks, lovers, spouses, children and healthy stomachs.

Many people know exactly how it is done, so that we have any amount of expert advice to aid us. If women fall to retain the everlasting love and admiration of their husbands, or men of their wives, it isn't because numerous ardent miscreants have not explained conclusively how to do it. Or take up any commercial magazine and we find the most profound advice as to how customers can be grappled to a business firm's soul. Even bankers have a complete set of rules for keeping depositors fixed and happy. Housewives have been told again and again the secret of keeping the cook blissful and competent on the premises. And if only certain gentlemen had profited by the advice as to how to keep their political followings they would all be in the Cabinet today. Perhaps. Even nations have sacrificed the most precious ententes, notwithstanding the plethora of experts who stood ready to point to the "only way." And as for retaining healthy stomachs, the experts are legion.

Yet we go right along making a mess of things, alienating affection, losing backers, cooks, husbands, clients, lovers, children and stomachs for all the world as though there were no reference guides to teach us how to grapple their everlasting loyalty to us. But perhaps the trouble lies in the fact that the various types of should-be loyal adherents are too quick to respond to treatment. They are all taking the advice to themselves and seem to suppose that it is our loyalty to them, not theirs to us, which is the more vitally important. Hence, while we are busy psyching them with our winsomeness, they, drat them, are equally busy psyching us to theirs. In fact, that valuable expert advice persistently gets into the hands of the wrong people—and when everybody is somebody, why, no one's anybody. That's the worst of universal education, especially those correspondence psychology courses by which anybody can learn how to successfully psyche everybody else and become the "dominant" of the occasion.

Just take the one case of our children. There is no excuse for anybody being ignorant as to how to manage one's children. Scores of writers have told us all about it. And, boiled down, it is concentrated in being "gentle firm." It is a nice creed and it ought to work. From the parents' point of view it leaves nothing to be desired. But unfortunately our offspring are also recluses at being gentle and firm. They have just absorbed the creed of the atmosphere. They know exactly how it works—being fully informed upon those weaknesses of ours which the experts have so gently pointed out to us. So, while we are smiling with superior loving firmness at them, they are smiling with still more loving firmness at us. We must make no unwise weak concessions to them—they are convinced we should tread. And they have heard all about the importance of will power, the will to win, the will to achieve. And so often they have learned the ropes and held up to ridicule those who held to the traditions of an age-long hierarchy established one of his own. The students under his training were quickly reduced to the position of "man-guided automatons," thus gaining nothing and losing much.

This "leader" became as bigoted and fanatical a snob in his particular line as the most empirical of those he denounced. His stunts was too raw even for the progressive cult he aspired to guide. In a short time he had lost the brightest minds from his ranks. Slavery to anything which deprives one of the power of thought, the dictates of the best within him is an abnormal and wretched condition which is properly resented.

Freedom is an ideal which humanity set for itself when it emerged from the slavery of past ages. Possibly it is a vestigial trace—a survival of memories burst into the consciousness. Within certain bounds it is an instinct to be encouraged and fostered. Outside of those bounds it becomes license and is to be dealt with as any lawless infringement of the rights of others should be. While he claims freedom for himself one must never forget that there are racial ties and obligations which cannot be ignored. While a part of humanity, liberty for one must include liberty for the other units in the great whole. License without law is the standard of criminal vandalism. "Liberty under law" is the ideal of thinking, intelligent human beings.

But how can there be harmony when nobody stands ready to condemn our superior infallibility, our trained mental superexcellence and moral pre-eminence? We must all fight for what we believe is right—and we haven't one blessed expert to teach us to all think the same way.

These experts of ours have been a shade too successful. Their theories are unimpeachable, and we have each and every one of us put them into practice forthwith. It was all very well when precious few of us understood our fellow man and would have considered it a little out of place in any case to trade upon his weaknesses. But under the new psychology we are all in the know, we can spot a fellow man

MILLIONAIRE OIL
MAN IS ON JURY

President of Union Company
Sixth Selected to Try
Mrs. Obenchain.

W. L. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company, is juror No. 6 in the trial of Madalynne C. Obenchain.
Mr. Stewart was one of the eighty-four talemen examined
and passed when he said that he knew of no
reason why he should not serve.

Spectators and the majority of the attaches of the court were unaware of the identity of Mr. Stewart. The court record showed that he was an oil man, but made no
reference to his connection with the Union Oil Company.
When he was asked where his office was he gave his room number in the Union Oil Building, but made
no reference to his official capacity.

The jury was sworn in
and, as is the custom, testimony
of the indictment over.
The only active business man on
the jury is W. L. Stewart of Lamanda Park. Mr. Stewart is
the president of the Union Oil Company.

Juror No. 7, the first in the front
row, is Mrs. Nina C. Battelle of 1516 Rancheria Street. Mrs. Battelle
is a housewife.

Next to her is John F. Stopp, rancher and fruit grower. He stated that he knew little of the case except what he had gleaned
from the newspapers.

The only active business man on
the jury is W. L. Stewart of Lamanda Park. Mr. Stewart is
the president of the Union Oil Company.

Juror No. 8, the first in the front
row, is Mrs. Nina C. Battelle of 1516 Rancheria Street. Mrs. Battelle
is a housewife.

The last of the ranchers is A. F.
Coltris of Covina. He is an orange grower.

H. W. Crockett, of 973 New York Street, is a retired attorney. He stated, however, that he had never practiced in criminal cases and so was accepted.

The alternate juror is Mrs. F.
P. Sperry of 40 St. James Park.
She is a housewife with one daughter. Her husband owns a large ranch near Sierra Madre.

The evidence which was brought in bit by bit in the trial of Arthur Burch, who, it is charged, was a
co-conspirator, was brought in yesterday to be piled high in the courtroom where he was.

WATCHES FATHER.

As the father of the slain man
started toward the stand, Mrs.
Obenchain watched. Her eyes
never left his face until he again
passed from view in the crowd after he testified. But Mr. Kennedy had been chatting with his son's former sweetheart and did not once glance in her direction.
Lawyers in the case promised to expedite the trial.

Preceding Mr. Kennedy was Dr. F. Wagner, a military surgeon
who explained certain charts
and photographs. These were shown to the jury. Although the prints of young Kennedy lay
in plain view on the counsel table, Mrs. Obenchain would not even look at them. During the physician's testimony and the reading of the grand jury indictment, Mrs. Obenchain conversed with Ralph Obenchain, her former husband, present
assistant attorney.

While on his way to court yesterday morning, Jud Rush, defense attorney, sprained his ankle, but
was able to hobble about the courtroom.

F. McDonald, Mr. Rush's
associate, did most of the questioning of the jurors. William E.
Beirne, who is interested in the case, sat at the end of the counsel table.

It is improbable that Dist.-Atty.
Woolwine will enter the case. Yesterday it was handled by Deputies Keyes and Fricks.

DRY LAW AGENT ASKS HELP

Robert C. Avery, prohibition enforcement agent in charge here, issued an appeal yesterday, urging
the public to work for prohibition enforcement and shouldered responsibility for the difference in one of the greatest conflicts the people have engaged in this country. The appeal says:

"There are many earnest men in the Federal enforcement ranks
and many representatives in the halls of Congress who stand for and fight for law enforcement. Let those at home prove what they profess by positive and definite effort to combat law violation and government decay. Positive evidence and not only opinion and hearsay is the way to accomplish
this. If those who can afford it will pay the expense of special
workers to obtain evidence in particular cases, we will appreciate
the workers who have been making good in that respect."

"Agents of this office have taken money out of their own pockets
rather than let certain cases go
on. Every agent has no special fund for that purpose and cannot meet the many calls for lack of men. To understand what the struggle for enforcement means the public must take a hand. They will realize that the conditions
existing in this country are normal
in this city and district in that whenever
of officials undertake to enforce the law."

"It is but fair to enforcement
agents and the public alike to understand the limit of possibilities
in following up the many calls for enforcement, even though
standards did all they could to assist.
The Los Angeles enforcement
office is receiving splendid co-operation from many county
and municipal enforcement officials, but the moral effect of a determined citizenship outside of official ranks is all powerful for responsible action."

sented to you.

"I direct your attention to my letter of Feb. 7, 1922, addressed to the City Attorney, and enclosed
in which I state in which I state that I have never signed any resignation other than the pursued resignation, which was the subject of that correspondence. As stated therein, that so-called resignation was signed on Sunday, Sunday, Oct. 9, 1921, upon the positive statement by Mr. McKee that such action was customary, that you desired it, and that he, Mr. Mc-Kee, had already given a similar statement to you. It appears from your recent letter to the City Attorney that these statements
were untrue, but being wholly unacquainted with politics I assumed that what Mr. McKee stated was correct.

"I desire to now again inform you that I have never signed any resignation other than the paper
which was first presented to you,
and that if a second paper of that nature had been presented to you
purporting to bear my signature,
such a signature is a forgery.

"I have never had any intention of resigning. I signed the original so-called resignation in under the impression of resigning now, and I assure you that I shall continue to perform my duties to the citizens
of this city, pursuant to my oath
of office, regardless of attempted political trials of politicians.

[Signed] O. B. KIBBLE."

McKEE'S STATEMENT.
President McKee, who presented
both of Commissioners Kibele's
"resignations" to the Mayor, declares that Mr. Kibele took the carbon-copy resignation and later delivered it to President McKee. This Commissioner Kibele denies.

Mr. McKee presented Mr.
Kibele's first "resignation" to the Mayor the 6th inst. The Mayor accepted it. This "resignation," City Attorney Stephens had was ineffective and contrary to the city charter. Commissioners Kibele took it to Tuncider's meeting on the board and is expected to again
appear at the meeting this morning.

In view of the forgery
charges, it is expected that today's meeting will be an exciting
one, as President McKee has threatened that "at the proper time" he would back up his assertion that Commissioner Kibele told the president to deliver the second carbon-copy "resignation"
to the Mayor.

MAYOR SURPRISED.
The carbon-copy "resignation"
was handed to the Mayor last Wednesday by President McKee,
and the Mayor stated that he was surprised over the receipt of the second Kibele "resignation" as he was the first. The Mayor stated that he knew nothing of the existence of another "resignation"
until each was brought to him by President McKee.

The Mayor's letter to Commissioner Kibele accepting the carbon-copy "resignation" stated:
"You are requested to return the same to me as herby accepted. If there are any more documents outstanding, signed by you and hereafter to be delivered, to me by President McKee."

FORGERY IS CHARGED.
With the charges of forgery
made by Commissioner Kibele, the Harbor Board, contrary to the policies of the commissioners, and
period to a more serious situation.
Friends of Commissioners Kibele
and Richards declare that these two commissioners have incurred
the wrath of political friends of the Harbor Board, and that the commissioners' refusal to promote the harbor department to be used for political purposes. And the commissioners' supporters express
the belief that the Mayor and President McKee are being used in attempts to force Commissioner Richards and Kibele from the board.

The Municipal League has gone
on record as endorsing the work
of Commissioners Kibele and Richards
and the board, and they also have the strong backing of members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Officers will leave shortly to bring Underwood here for trial.

Ay breaking out of the skin,
even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menth-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly
brings ease from skin irritation,
soothes and heals the eczema right
up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the

Mary Miles Minter Questioned in Secret by District Attorney.

SANDS INSANE, FRIEND THINKS.

Missing Valet and Secretary Often Acted Querly.

Talked of Suicide, Says Former Companion.

Police Seek Sweetheart of Murder Suspect.

The belief of detectives that if Edward F. Sands, valet-secretary to William D. Taylor, killed his employer, he was insane, was bolstered last night by information tending to show that the missing fugitive was mentally deranged.

George E. Brettnar, who became well acquainted with Sands before the latter's disappearance more than a year ago, told of information and remarks of a peculiar nature.

At that time Sands was talking of joining a foreign navy or going to South America, according to Mr. Brettnar. He said he was becoming restless and wanted a change, but spoke no ill of Mr. Taylor.

TALKED OF SUICIDE.

"I don't know what I do if I lose my job and didn't have any money," Sands is reported to have said. "When I get to be 25 years old I'm going to blow my head off. I don't care any use of people living after that age. There's nothing for anything. I used to be a chief petty officer in the Quartermaster Corps aboard ships, and I guess I might as well enlist and be taken care of until I'm ready to shoot myself."

Sands always carried a .45-caliber Colt's revolver, Mr. Brettnar said. One morning Mr. Brettnar went to Sands' room and found him asleep. He touched him on the shoulder to awaken him. Sands awoke, ran to the window and pressed the weapon against Mr. Brettnar, but when he saw what it was he turned over and went to sleep again without saying a word.

Sands was keeping company with a girl who frequented Wilson's Dancing Academy," said the informant. "He seemed to be infatuated with her. He weighed about 185 pounds at that time and was about 5 feet 7 inches tall. I pounds. I used to find him at Mr. Taylor's home perusing the Encyclopedias Britannica by the hour. Sometimes he would refuse to speak to me, and when I'd meet him a few days later he would apologize and say he had been feeling depressed."

Information given to authorities several days ago that Sands had been seen two blocks from the District Attorney's office before the murder, and could not be explained by Mr. Brettnar's statements that the missing valet has a double.

According to this latest information, the valet, who resembles Sands in his work, was seen working in a cafe two blocks from 404-B South Alvarado street, where Mr. Taylor lived. Many persons have been mistaken this waiter for Sands.

Police are anxious to locate Sands' sweetheart to question her about his possible whereabouts and to ascertain if he has been communicating with her. The girl is said to be of French descent and Sands has a large photograph of her.

Denies Facts Suppressed in Taylor Murder

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Reports that motion-picture producers were attempting to suppress the true facts in the slaying at Los Angeles of William Desmond Taylor, director, "too absurd to warrant comment," said George Goldwyn, of the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, said today.

"The public should realize," he added, "that the picture industry, like any other, is made up of all sorts of people, and that among a numerous crew of men and women, there is no more indication of character than being a plumber, steel man, a merchant or what not."

OHIO MAN DOES NOT THINK SANDS IS SON.

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

COLUMBUS (O.) Feb. 9.—Notwithstanding statements from the Navy Department at Washington that descriptions of Edward Fitzgerald Snyder, naval deserter, formerly of Marion, O., showed similarity to those of Edward F. Sands, son of a man connected with the murder of William Desmond Taylor, Hollywood motion-picture director, Murray T. Snyder, telephone office manager at Marion, O., expressed today that the man Edward Fitzgerald Snyder, could not be the man known as Sands.

Another angle of the identity question was furnished by Army officers at Columbus, who stated that it was to see him between the Navy Department and the newspaper description of Sands and the appearance of Edward Fitzgerald Snyder, son of a man connected with the murder of William Desmond Taylor, Hollywood motion-picture director, Murray T. Snyder, telephone office manager at Marion, O., expressed today that the man Edward Fitzgerald Snyder, could not be the man known as Sands.

The fact is that the officers working on this case came to the District Attorney's office, as is their custom, in many cases, and requested that this office counsel and advise them during the progress of their investigations and that we take the testimony of various persons, which may tend to cast some light upon what has so far been to a most baffling mystery.

Though the officers have worked on this case, they have not so far been developed or submitted to the District Attorney's office, as a scintilla of evidence tending to connect anyone with the murder.

The recently "refound" letters of Mary Norman—letters which she wrote to Mr. Taylor and which could not be found in his possession for many days after his murder—still were the center of much discussion and speculation yesterday.

Mr. Woolwine's office has them now. They have been examined. They contain nothing regarded as particularly essential to the solution of the crime. The District Attorney's office feels that they were in the clothes closet, under lock and key, hidden in a boot, during all the search of the premises. These assurances came from the official on the case.

Charles E. Moore, manager of the Famous Players-Lasky studio which had Mr. Taylor under a two-year contract, was in long consultation with Mr. Woolwine, while Officer Long was being questioned by Mr. E. T. Stoen in the room with the police detective.

Mr. E. T. Stoen was not summoned to the office, it was said, but merely is aiding in every way he can to get at the bottom of the case.

INCOME BONUS BILL.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday formally endorsed the soldiers' and sailors' bonus bill as amended and approved by President Harding.

MURDER NOT LAID TO SANDS

Investigators of Sheriff's Force Eliminate Former Secretary as Suspect; Tall Man Sought.

Investigators of the Sheriff's force believe that yesterday they completely eliminated Edward F. Sands as a suspect in the murder of Director William Desmond Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McLean.

Undersheriff Biscailus and Chief of Criminal Investigation Manning visited Mrs. McLean, wife of the motion-picture actor, at her residence at an unnumbered address. She opened the door of her apartment, heard the shot fired on the night the director was slain.

Mr. McLean was questioned prior to being summoned to the District Attorney's office. She is the only witness who saw the unidentified man leaving the Taylor residence a few minutes after she heard the shot fired on the night the director was slain.

NOT SANDS, SHE SAYS. Mrs. McLean stated positively, according to the Sheriff's office, that she had seen the man, but did not know him. She knew Sands's appearance well, she said, and was unable to recognize the stranger who leisurely walked out of Mr. Taylor's apartment.

"We have been assured," said Mr. and Mrs. McLean's son, "of the correctness of the investigation." said Undersheriff Biscailus. "They tell us all they know in complete detail. The man seen by her was neither Sands, nor Harry Fellows, the chauffeur, who rang the bell. Taylor's apartment is shortly described as 'a den of iniquity.' She is the only witness who saw the man leave the Taylor residence a few minutes after she heard the shot fired on the night the director was slain.

EVERYTHING IS A LIE. Mrs. McLean stated positively, according to the Sheriff's office, that she had seen the man, but did not know him. She knew Sands's appearance well, she said, and was unable to recognize the stranger who leisurely walked out of Mr. Taylor's apartment.

Mr. McLean repeated in detail the circumstances related several days ago to police. She and her declared, that she could recognize the man she saw leaving Mr. Taylor's home at 404-B South Alvarado street soon after the fatal shot was heard.

Another important point was, at first, that she was asked to look at Howard Fellows, the chauffeur, to see whether he could have been the man she saw. It is understood she positively stated he was not the man.

The man was believed to be the man seen by Mrs. McLean, for he said that after getting no response he walked away.

Mrs. McLean, her husband and her maid were accompanied to the District Attorney's office yesterday morning and taken into a room adjoining that in which Mr. Fellows was waiting. She was asked whether he was the man and her answer in the negative is understood to have been positive.

The testimony of Officer Long is declared to have been one of the "aces in the hole" of the investigation.

Prior to this meeting Henry Peavey, attired in a golf suit and purple tie, was the center of attention. He was present with the officers and his wife, taken down by Shortland Reporter E. T. Stoen.

Throughout the day there were persistent rumors that the Misses Norman and Purviance had been smuggled into the District Attorney's office for the purpose of getting their statements. All of these reports apparently were groundless.

AVIATORS FORCED TO QUIT AIR.

Army Fliers Run Into Wind and Rain on Trip to San Francisco Camp.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
MONROVIA, Feb. 9.—Heavy wind and rain encountered today by three Army aviators from March Field forced them to land near here this afternoon.

Lieut. W. C. Goldsborough landed in Azusa and was uninjured although his plane capsized and he smashed his propeller.

Lieut. E. Bates and F. C. Kell dropped out of the clouds in the vicinity of Alhambra and made a safe landing.

Lieut. Kell's ship went over on her nose and crumpled a propeller but no other damage was done.

The three officers from Crissy Field, San Francisco, had been visiting at March Field and this morning started on their return trip. When they left at 10 a.m. there was no sign of a storm at that time. Near Ontario, however, rain and wind blew them out of their course. They continued on until they were above Azusa, when their formation was broken up and they decided to make a landing as soon as possible.

The officers made their way to the Officers' Club there until they can continue their air journey northward.

Form Company to Raise Stock on Large Scale

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

VENTURA, Feb. 9.—One of the most important recent transactions in the county is the incorporation of a company to embark on a large scale in the cattle and sheep business.

They have rented ranches adjacent to Ventura as follows: E. C. Canet, General Waterhouse G. Bordenave and the Sexton proprietors. The incorporators are Walter Sexton, Steve Percy and Gino Pergola.

They will have 1200 acres in all in the Canada Larga district mostly to the east of the highway. They have just purchased 400 head of cattle and 2600 head of sheep. The company is incorporated for $75,000.

Secure Petition to Conserve Water for Irrigation

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 9.—With several petitions still in the field and unaccounted for, 250 of the 500 signers needed to form a permanent organization favoring a plan to store and conserve the water of Kern River have been definitely organized. David L. Manager of the Kern County Farm Bureau announced today following a meeting of Fruitvale farmers at the schoolhouse in that district.

Mr. Deusi expressed his belief that proponents of the project would experience no difficulty in obtaining all of the necessary signatures.

Mr. Deusi's meeting was the sixth of a series of seven meetings being held in different parts of the county in the interest of the proposition. The last meeting will be held tonight at Panama schoolhouse. A. A. Castro, general manager of the Kern County Land Company; H. J. Brandt, H. R. Peacock, E. J. Emmons and R. C. Meyers are among the speakers tonight.

BOND ELECTION.

Porterville Asked to Vote $50,000 in Municipal Securities.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 9.—A $50,000 bond issue to provide additional classrooms and much-needed roads and streets will be voted March 18 by the Porterville grammar school district, according to a decision of the Trustees.

The plan includes purchase of the present high school plant and the removal of the old building at a cost of $25,000 and enlargement of the school at each grammar school in the city. The district has an assessed valuation of $2,484,910. Bonds now outstanding amount to $47,500, while the proposed issue would mean increased payment of 15 cents per $100 maximum.

OIL WORKER KILLED.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 9.—Corporal L. G. Bain today held an inquest on the bodies of three men killed last night when a lighted oil well exploded in the oil fields in the city, which were all set afire by a Santa Fe oil well.

The dead men are: Antonio Castro, 21, driver of the car; Ramon Castro, 11, member of a pioneer family, and Manuel Sanchez, 14.

The oil well was bound for Bakersfield, and the three men were employed by the San Joaquin Land Company as cowboys.

They were returning from the Bakersfield ranch near Shafter when they had been sent by Mr. Frost to tear down fence posts.

Castro was being taken to hospital. His chest was cut and his right arm was crushed.

Castro, Perez, whose arm was crushed, died this morning.

The freight train was in charge of Charles, engineer, and William, conductor.

Castro's friends agreed that his death was unavoidable.

MUST RESTRICT ENTRY OF JAPS.

Congress is Told Admission Proves Dangerous.

McClatchy Urges Federal Action in Matter.

Gentlemen's Agreement is Also Attacked.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—If friendly relations with Japan are to be maintained, the United States government must effectively stop the continued admission of Japanese and the rapid increase of Japanese population, V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento Bee, declared in a statement today before the House immigration Committee.

CANCELED AGREEMENT.

Urging Federal action along the lines proposed by the California Legislature in its memorial to Congress last year, Mr. McClatchy declared the "gentlemen's agreement" between this country and Japan should be canceled as soon as possible for the purpose for which it was made, and that this country should, by treaty or proper legislation, accomplish the intent of that agreement as clearly set out by President Roosevelt, under whom it was signed.

Although immigration from other countries has been sharply curtailed under the percentage immigration act, Mr. McClatchy said approximately 5000 Japanese were permitted to come into the United States under the agreement since that legislation went into effect. While the immigration of Japanese "picture brides" has been stopped in deference toable, many Japanese are now coming to this country in still greater number what he described as "excursion brides." These, he declared, are urged to begin married life in order that the Yamato race may not be permanently established on this continent.

RAISE CITY ASSESSMENTS.

Estimating that Long Beach's assessment of actual property values, City Manager Hewes today announced the municipal valuations will be raised this year to approximately the 70 per cent level.

With local assessments at 70 per cent of actual values, Long Beach will conform to the average in valuations by California cities.

VETERANS AS GUESTS.

Veterans of the G.A.R. of Long Beach will be the guests of honor at patriotic exercises to be held in all the city's grammar schools Friday. In honor of Lincoln's birthday, the school children will observe the day with a special morning program Monday.

KNIGHTS CELEBRATE.

Redlands Lodge Prepares For Special Meeting.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

REDLANDS, Feb. 9.—The Knights of Pythias Lodge of this city is planning for a big celebration the latter part of this month to commemorate the fifty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the lodge. It is planned to have a dinner, a program and some of the great speakers of the day as guests.

The exact date has not been set. It is also planned to have visitors here from the San Bernardino, Riverside and Pomona lodges, as well as others of the south.

The following proclamation from William Ladd, the Supreme Chancellor, regarding the event has been received: "It is most fitting that proper celebration of this anniversary be held on all occasions because of the popularity of the order, its popularity as a fraternity and its prosperity."

Letters Reveal Terrible Starvation.

Donations Given to Cheer Hungry Molokans.

William A. Fell, 1909 College Avenue, Claremont, donated $300 yesterday to The Times fund for the relief of the starving Molokans of Russia. Others who contributed to The Times fund yesterday are: George W. Vansickle, San Diego, $2.50, and Mrs. Charles Sestrey, Garden Court Apartments, $2. The total amount collected to date is $216.44.

The need of clothing is described in pathetic detail in letters received by the Molokan Russians in Los Angeles and their relations in the Transcaucasus and Kuban. The Russian Molokan Relief Society, for political reasons, is not making known the identities of the writers or recipients of these letters, which have found their way out of Bolshevik Russia in extraordinary ways.

A number of Molokans of Los Angeles have relations and friends in the village of Alexandrovsk, who have informed them of the terrible famine that is raging now in that village and in other surrounding areas as the result of the four years of war and three years of revolution.

ROVE OVER LAND.

"We have to run from place to place," one letter relates, "and needless to say, have to leave everything behind. Under these conditions planting crops was, of course, impossible. Our people run about like mad folk, riding in mountain forests and like savages like wild animals. But even there they do not escape the awful bandits who single out everybody that has a breadcrumb left and kill everybody that does not hide. You can see that. Almighty! that you are out of this terrible country and we are praying to God on our knees that we may be spared, and that eventually we may find ourselves in the country in which you are living now where life and property are secure and we are permitted to worship God according to our conscience."

PEOPLES GO NAKED.

"Shame no longer exists here and we are going almost naked and lucky is the man that has a gunny sack to hide his person. The most ordinary clothes such as none of you would even think of wearing cost us 100,000 rubles (about the war $12,500), and even then there is no goods from which to make clothes could they be had at any money. Would you think that men and women are going naked and lucky to have even the shame of nakedness that formerly existed? When it comes to foot-wear, there is none to be had, much less seen. But nobody would think of complaining about that, as our barefooted feet do not seem to mind the snow and ice."

Donations of clothing and non-perishable food are being received at the relief society's warehouse, 173 South Utah street, or, if necessary, will be called for if notification is given to the telephone number Boyle 4154. The Times is receiving cash donations, which will be applied to Molokan relief in the Transcaucasus through the American Relief Association under special arrangement with Herbert Hoover. The Molokans are Protestant Christians of Transcaucasia.

COLLEGE ORATORY CONTEST TONIGHT.

SEVEN SCHOOLS PARTICIPATE IN EVENT AT NORMAL HILL CENTER.

With a large silver loving cup, a suit of clothes and pair of shoes as prizes, representatives from seven Southern California colleges will meet this evening at the first intercollegiate oratorical contest of the season. The event will be held in the auditorium of the Normal Hill Center, Fifth street and Grand avenue, at 7 o'clock.

Merle McColloch will represent the University of Southern California. He was chosen in a long preliminary struggle in which more than thirty-five Trojans competed. Frank Bradshaw, a freshman, will represent Occidental; Frank W. Pine, the California Institute of Technology, will represent the University and prominent local residents will be included among the lecturers. Registrations to the number of twenty-five have already been received, but it is expected that the attendance will grow to twice that number.

Takes Stand in Her Own Defense.

Mrs. Julia Lee Johnstone.

SHOT WAS ACCIDENT, SAYS SHE.

Illicit Liquor Deals Laid to Man Now Dead by Woman Trying to Clear Name.

Mrs. Julia Lee Johnstone, whose marriage went to smash when she discovered, as she says, that her husband, Thomas P. Johnstone, dealt in illicit liquor, took the stand in her own defense in Judge Avery's room late yesterday afternoon to clear up a good name and the name of her daughter of the charge of murder.

The shot that took the life of her husband was fired accidentally, she said, July 7, 1921, after an argument. She had pleaded with him to give up the purported illicit trade and he refused her, she declared. Her testimony yesterday was regarding her marriage to Mr. Johnstone, many years her junior. In 1915 she was 16 years of age. She had known him since she was 4 years of age. His fondness for gambling, she said, was not known to her until four years after the marriage.

Her attitude on the stand was said to be firm. Her examination by Capt. W. T. Helm was punctured by the objections of Dep. Dist. Atty. Hill. Today she will go into the details of the shooting.

REALTY CLASS OPEN.

University of California Starts Lecture Series.

The first course in real estate to be started in Southern California was inaugurated last night when the college of commerce of the University of Southern California opened the first of a series of six lectures on the subject. The course will be given under the supervision of D. Parker Bryan of the Charles G. Andrews Company. Frank Ryan, president of the reality board, delivered the first lecture, delivered the first lecture of the course.

The class will meet every Thursday evening at 8:30 in the rooms of the Los Angeles Realty Board at 631 South Spring street. This constitutes one of the twenty-four courses which are now being offered by the college of commerce, and next year it is expected to add the course to the regular curriculum of the university. In the presentation of this course, officials of the local reality board and the university, the city and prominent local residents will be included among the lecturers. Registrations to the number of twenty-five have already been received, but it is expected that the attendance will grow to twice that number.

PROTEST ACT.

Chamber of Commerce Insists on More Federal Judges.

Failure of the authors of the Judiciary Act, now pending in the Senate, to provide for one or more additional Federal judges in this district, resulted yesterday in a protest of energetic protest to Washington by the Chamber of Commerce.

Both United States Senators from California were urged by the local chamber to oppose the bill in its present form and to do all in their power to have a bill made for additional district judges in Southern California. The original draft of the judiciary bill provided for an increase of thirteen district judges in California, all to be located in the central or northern part of the State.

FOR RATE HEARING.

Pacific Electric Case to be Heard in Hollywood.

Alma M. Neer sought to recover from J. W. Rupp, supervisor of the Pacific Electric rate commission to him, and he was to return after he made good in the real estate business. Yesterday Justice W. H. Nease took the matter under advisement.

The testimony showed that the couple had come from Canada and lived together as man and wife. Each declared the other was responsible for their transportation here. Mr. Rupp denied obtaining the money.

It also developed that the suit was brought after the couple separated, and a relative had given out the information that the couple was not married.

The matter is now said to be before the Federal authorities.

SUIT OVER ESTATE WON BY WIDOW.

Supreme Court Decision Leaves Mrs. Cover as Administratrix.

By a decision handed down yesterday the State Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of Probate Judge Rives, denying the petition filed by S. A. Cover, praying for the revocation of letters of administration on the estate of Aaron Cover, given the widow of the deceased.

Aaron Cover was a money-lender and dealer in mortgages, who died intestate in Pasadena, Sept. 15, 1918, where he had resided for fifteen years. His estate was valued at about $300,000.

May A. Cover, widow of the deceased, applied for letters of administration on the estate of her husband, Oct. 6, 1918, and she has been acting in the capacity of administratrix ever since.

The petition asking for the revocation of the appointment was grounded upon the terms of a marriage contract made between her husband and wife, Dec. 24, 1909, by which it was agreed that the wife should cease to be an heir of the deceased, and renounced all right or claim in the estate of Mr. Cover, by virtue of her being his widow and renounced all community right to any of his property.

In the trial of the case before Judge Rives, the widow admitted that she had signed the agreement and received property from her husband at the time valued at $11,000. She also admitted that he had intended to waive any of her marital rights in the estate of the deceased, or rights vested in her by the law.

She asserted that she had been induced to make the agreement by the deceased, his son, U. G. Cover, and one John Stover.

The court found that the agreement was conceived and consummated by presumptive undue influence, and that the assertion to that effect was sufficiently sustained, when manifested by the sensible evidence which presented, and controlled the parties, and by a consideration of the evidence. The court further said the widow had executed the agreement in ignorance of her rights.

DOCTOR IN CUSTODY ON DRY-LAW CHARGE.

PHYSICIAN IS ACCUSED OF SELLING LIQUOR TO ENFORCEMENT MEN.

Eric V. Hauser, the 1922 president of the Rose Festival Association of Portland, arrived here yesterday to solicit the interest of the members of Los Angeles in the Oregon floral classic. He stated that the community of interest in the whole Portland slope best can be realized through joint participation in the Portland and Pasadena pageants.

The good folk of Pasadena always have sent floats to our Portland pageant, which has been established for twelve years.

Mr. Hauser said yesterday at the Alex. Shania, where he will remain until Sunday, "We expect next year the Rose Festival Association and Chamber of Commerce of Portland enter a float in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. Now we want Los Angeles to come in on our 1923 float, which will be held June 7 and 8. We expect a lot of Shania, for their convention in San Francisco will open four days later. There will be more than $4,000 in cash prizes.

"When I was president of the Rose Festival Association in 1920 we participated, and we had a body of Northwest Mounted Police come down for the show. Now it seems to me that the pageants of Pasadena and Portland should be combined to bring the most and most colorful to the most in the most natural way, the social way. The floral pageant is a west coast idea, you know."

The Portland float won a first and a special prize at Pasadena this year.

Mr. Hauser is president of the Hauser Construction Company, and owner of the Multnomah Hotel in Portland.

CAMP SITE REJECTED.

Council Decides Against Automobile Accommodations in Park

The City Council yesterday accepted unanimously the report of the public welfare committee of the municipal automobile tourists' camp in the Commonwealth avenue canyon in Griffith Park. Property owners in the vicinity had complained that the committee had a vigorous protest against the location of the camp in the park canyon, saying that it would depreciate property values and would be a nuisance. The park department had not sought another location for the camp, the establishment of which has long been urged by the Chamber of Commerce and the Automobile Club of Southern California.

When she would ask him not to respond, the complaint stated.

"I don't intend to give up anything that I had before I was married. You can't gag me at night."

The complaint was prepared by Attorney Neil S. McCarthy.

DE MILLE VERY ILL.

Director Taken to Home on Stretcher From Pasadena.

Cecil De Mille is a very sick man. This fact was learned yesterday. He was taken from the receiving hospital in Pasadena on a stretcher, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. De Mille, who is his manager.

Mr. De Mille is suffering from a bad attack of inflammatory rheumatism contracted in Europe. It will probably be several weeks at least before he can work.

VENTILATOR SHAFTS NEARING COMPLETION.

City Engineers Griffin announced yesterday that work is proceeding rapidly in installing two ventilating shafts in the Third-street tunnel.

and he expects that unless unforeseen delays develop, the tube can be opened to vehicular traffic early next month. The tunnel is open and will remain open for pedestrian traffic.

SUPERVISORS HEAR SCHOOL PETITIONS.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday denied the petition to change the boundaries of the Glendale and Silverwood school districts and also denied the petitions to change the boundaries of the Savannah, San Gabriel and El Monte school districts. The board granted the petitions to change the boundaries of La Balsa and Venice City, West Whittier and Hudson and Mill and Hudson school districts.

Woman's Ills Make Unhappy Home

There is no question but what the ill's of women conspire against domestic harmony. The husband cannot understand these troubles and the physician finds it hard to cure them; therefore the over-worked wife and mother continues to drag around day in and day out with headaches and backaches, fretful and nervous.

Such women should be guided by the experience of women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. Many of them declare that their health has been restored to health, strength and consequent happiness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after doctors and all other medicines had failed to help them. It will surely pay women who suffer from such ailments to try it.

FLOOD MENACE AGAIN SERIOUS.

Heavy Rains With Melting Snow Fill Streams.

Highway and Railroad Bridges Are Out.

Rising Los Angeles River Causing Damage.

waters from the Paloma Canyon and the mountains. The Southern Pacific Railway had a night shift of men working to prevent washouts.

In some places the water was over the railroad tracks. Automobile traffic was suspended between Van Nuys and Lanarkshim because the waters had washed over the roads, in some places drowning them.

The chief damage caused by the present storm, City Engineer Griffin reported, was due to the rising of the Los Angeles River, caused by melting snows in the mountains followed by heavy rain.

In the Orange Grove Avenue district of Hollywood, storm waters from Laurel Canyon have caused to burst an old storm drain serving the district and many streets, backyards and private wagges have been damaged by storm gravel and silt.

In the Hollywood and Wilshire districts, storm waters have filled the low-lying streets, but not to the extent that they were overflowed during the last two previous storms.

Reports to the State Highway Commission were to the effect that the Ridge Route was still open, but muddy, the water was high, and the automobile could not ford through.
